

How to find their place in student life

Student life; this is a special world, the swirl of events, experiences and achievements. Here everyone can find something of their own, to better realize their skills or discover new things. To find their place as soon as possible is very important, because later on these will be less time. The life of each individual University has its own unique features, some common items you can select.

First of all, each University has self-government. Government; it is a voluntary non-profit organization whose activities are aimed at supporting creative, scientific, educational activities of students and protection of their rights, especially in relation to the educational process. The government cares about the organization of cultural and sports activities, provides interaction with students from other schools, including international exchange students. In General, the government engaged in all that relates to student life. This and clubs, and organization events, and various promotions and projects. Despite all the branching system of self-government, the following departments: information, training, legal, sports, financial, employment, cultural and art, Department of foreign policy Department of social policy, Department of research activities. Normally, the presentation of self-government and its units occurs at the beginning of the year for all newcomers, but still better to study all the information available in advance. With this approach, you will be able to leave more time for reflection and will be able to better understand the options that are available.

Another way to engage in socially useful activity; to be a warden. Chiefs were elected in the first days of voting and the same day be a kind of intermediaries between the faculty, Dean, curriculum and students. The advantages of the starosta include the fact that most teachers know the prefects in the face, and then; distinguish them from the General flow of students; also elders have the relevant information and represent the interests of the group. The disadvantages of this position include the constant responsibility, the need to organize go to page your group and to convey to her information. And, of course, if the whole group of, say, skipped a few, then indignant speech teachers usually listen to it warden. However, this is quite an interesting experience, especially for responsible and proactive individuals.

Space for creative individuals also provided. First of all; in student theatres which can involve not only actors, but writers, musicians, costume designers. For those who combines charisma with a sense of humor, the refuge will become a KVN team, and a good opportunity to test himself on stage; tournaments with teams from other universities. You can also participate in the organization of literary and musical evenings, exhibitions of paintings or photos.

In the end, what you would not do it efficiently, don't expect much opportunity and take the initiative on their own. And, of course, don't forget the main purpose of stay in the University; knowledge.
